DALLAS, TEXAS.

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 23

DEKISON and Sherman continue to quarrel like little boys of children about which receives the most cotton.

A DENISON butcher received a sausage stuffed from St. Louis, and the canine market of that town is looming up.

With great good sense Mr. Robert Lincoln, son of President Lincoln, has declined a petty bureau in the state department.

A LECTURER asks the question: "Does death end all?" Our observation teaches us that it does. Not once since Elijah has escaped it.

CONKLING, the little bantam rooster is mad because he cannot be the cock of the walk among the republican fowls, and crows his indignation at the administration.

The American citizens of San Antonio caught the singing fever during the sangerfest held in that city, and are forming singing clubs to sing the happy hours away.

The Fort Worth Democrat concludes that her gamblers are those of the first water, and, aside from the immorality attending their profession, a set of upright honest gentlemen.

Two of the Rio Grande City jail breakers surrendered by Mexico have been tried and sentenced to five years imprisonment in the Huntsville penitentiary. A very light sentence, we think, for such a pair of law-defying scoundrels.

Prof. Carr, a scientist who has been visiting the head waters of the Guadalupe in western Texas, fondling with the bones of mastodons, has discovered the skeleton of a camel twice the size of those of the present day. Also the huge skull of an elephant and the remains of other animals of enormous build.

REPUBLICAN congressmen from Pennsylvania, New York and Wisconsin openly declare that those states will go democratic in November. They seem to be more certain of this than the democrats themselves. The tide of civil service reform is under full headway and it will carry everything before it to the utter disgust of ye loyal republicans.

The crowing which was begun by the democratic roosters of Ohio, on the dawn of a better day, was taken up by those of other states, and the pleasant confident voice of that magnificent fowl is still reverberated throughout the land, while the republican rooster tucks his head under his wing and broods sorrowfully over the inevitable destruction of his party.

WE ARE utterly astonished that a Bell county infidel should be taken out by a mob and whipped because of his opinions. Such spirit is worthy the dark days of the inquisition and altogether unworthy of the nineteenth century and the country. These people should be pursued by the law, and such an example made of them as will deter them from any more such exhibitions.

A farmer from Dallas county, living on Mountain creek, within twelve miles of the village of Dallas, plodded up here through the mud and rain yesterday, in preference to going to Dallas and sold his cotton to Tuck Box for 9 cents. We did not learn his name, but he expressed himself as being an ardent admirer of the "way they do in Fort Worth."—Democrat.

It is possible that a Dallas man can be an admirer of the "ways" of a village where for a few paltry dollars they cut a man's throat, shoot or poison him?

A Pleasant Reminder. Burlington Hawkeye: Tilden cablegram to Hayes: "How're you now, you old eight to seven deputy? What-matter now, state?"

Patterson Sometimes Logical if Not Honest.

Philadelphia Times: He says that if Wade Hampton is the proper man for governor of South Carolina, Butler must be the proper man to represent that state in the senate. Patterson being right once in his life, we record it for the sake of reference.

Let the Advocates of Women's Rights Reflector.

New York Express: There is a sect in Russia called the "Purifiers," who, long to the Greek church, and whose leading doctrine is that all persons must marry on coming of age; that the husband must be subordinate to the wife, and recognize her as the head of the family; and that once a week he must confess his sins to his wife.

The Day of Miracles Not Passed. The Catholic newspapers of Quebec say that a miracle was wrought in a church there. A woman who had been lame for years and who had used crutches, was immediately after partaking of communion, cured of her lameness, and enabled to return home without crutches. It is also said that French, a Canadian, who fifteen years ago joined the Baptist church, was, on witnessing the miracle, converted to the Catholic faith.

DID HAYES DO IT?

The republican party was founded upon great ideas. It struggled for a gigantic prize. It worked in the line of human freedom, and the elevation and advancement of man. So long as it did so unselfishly its career was a great one, and no defeat or disappointment marked its history. It went on from conquering to conquering, and its banners were triumphantly and victoriously flaunted in the face of tyranny over the entire globe.

New England, the home and birthplace of republicanism, grew rich and powerful because the south, the home of slavery, could not, or rather would not, manufacture her own productions, especially cotton. In forcing the emancipation of the slaves she made a great sacrifice, and at the same time exacted one from us. Her's, we suspect, was an unwelcome one, as well as an unwitting one. It was one of those disagreeable circumstances which are sometimes hidden from the keenest ken. While riven slavery was a beautiful sentiment and worthy the blood and treasure it cost, yet there was some drawback to it, and sentimental New England republicanism is realizing that fact to-day. Thus in the way of mere dollars and cents from their own standpoint, it was a grave mistake. Their management of republican forces since the war has been a mistake. It was all well enough to invest the negro with beautiful traits and clothe him with virtues and qualities of superhuman excellence in order to arouse the sympathy of the world, and gather a power sufficient to break his chains. But it should have been content with that result. The honest masses of republicanism could see only a hero of patience and virtue as well as a deeply wronged man and brother in the negro. They were not content therefore, with the riven links. They must force social as well as legal and political equality, and the mistake was too grave for even the strength of the world's abolitionism. When these enthusiastic republicans came south at the close of the war, and found the negro as he is, it took but few years to gather sufficient disgust to cause them to go quietly home and leave him to himself, while they sat down and mourned the death of an idol which had grown very dear to them, by reason of the blood and treasure it had cost.

But, behold! a new revelation broke in upon them, and one which touches the New Englander in a very tender place. Her skilled mechanics no longer object to coming south, and now we have our own mills spinning our own cotton on the ground from which it grew, and where it is worn and used. New England has not only lost the profit upon the goods sold us, but we are able to beat her in the markets of the world.

The negro has gone just as far as human power can drive him, and in placing him there brave, devoted, but deceived, New England has unwittingly forged chains of another kind for her own fair limbs. In breaking the negro's chains she broke also the power of the republican party, and also the monster manufacturing monopoly which had made herself rich and great, and which sent her fame out to the uttermost bounds of the earth. No, Rutherford B. Hayes did not do the deed, it was New England that gave birth to the republican party, and it was her also who dug its grave.

THE STATE OVER.

Tarrant County.—Fort Worth meditates the building of a city hospital. Mr. McCormick, through mistake, took an overdose of morphine and narrowly escaped death.

McLennan County.—Miss Margaret Fitzer has been adjudged insane. A negro named Moore had several fingers cut off and his hand badly mangled while coupling some freight cars. The Waco Greys have accepted a challenge from the Gold City Guards to compete at target shooting Wednesday.

Navarro County.—A New Jersey colony, expecting to settle near Rice, in Navarro county, will leave for Texas on the 6th of November. Corsicana Index: Sunday morning, while driving down Dr. T. J. Meredith saw the horses of Mr. Bates, which were standing in front of Mrs. Jester's gate, starting to run off with a vehicle, in which was a little boy. He jumped from his buggy and caught at the horses, but was thrown down in the effort, when the vehicle ran over his left leg, breaking the larger bone just below the knee.

Collins County.—A difficulty occurred between Virgil and Thomas H. Morris on one side, and Stewart Wood, their brother-in-law, and James Hawkins on the other. Wood shot Morris, when his brother, Virgil, cut Wood across the abdomen, besides a severe gun-shot wound on Thomas Morris. Nobody died. Fuss about property.—A locomotive struck a couple of steers, jumped the track and ran across Wilson bridge on the ties. Can't do it again!—That fraud of a phenologist, Van Horn, is doing McKinney.—Cotton crop very much injured by the recent rains.

Grayson County.—A dead horse was hauled through the streets of Sherman on a wagon, while in another behind were seated a man, woman and child, all weeping over the death of this faithful piece of old horseflesh. A lot of negroes in Sherman, who proposed to practice the heathenish rites of fetichism, were warned by the whites not to attempt it, which they did not.—Sherman has a negro medical student.—The Gate City guards of Denison, have organized as a military company with J. R. Sanders as captain.—The Register says: It will be remembered that about eighteen months ago, three men rode up to the house of Captain Harshaw, living near Pilot Grove, and calling him to the gate, fired upon him, killing him instantly. The parties, though not identified, were supposed to have been Dave Boren, Babe Richards and another party. Sheriff Everhart arrested Boren, and Richards was also arrested, but no evidence being found against them, were released. On last Saturday night Richards and Boren were waylaid, a few miles from Pilot Grove, near the Fannin county line, and killed by some unknown parties. Thus far no one has been arrested for the shooting, as it is not known who the parties were.

AN OTHERS SEE US.

The Wood county Play pays the following tribute to Dallas and in her behalf the Herald tips the hat.

Situated as she is, upon the bosom of a broad expanse of the richest prairie in the known world, Dallas is at once beautiful, attractive and useful to the people of Texas. Perhaps no place in the state could have been better selected for a great commercial mart. It is in the heart of the great wheat growing and cotton producing region of Texas, and has two railroads, furnishing connections to all northern points, which makes competition sharp and advantageous. It has similar advantages to southern ports. Capitalists, merchants, tradesmen, and in truth, representatives of all industries, have assembled there, backed with the necessary capital, to build and operate a great city in all its parts. Dallas merchants with their immense advantages ought to be able to furnish goods to the interior towns cheaper than cities of greater pretensions, and there is no doubt but they would greatly augment their business by making themselves and their business more extensively known in every part of the country.

An Infidel Given a Hundred Lashes.

The Belton Journal, just received here, gives an account of another outrage in Bell county. Dr. S. J. Russell, a prominent physician and respected citizen, who resides in the southern portion of Bell county, is an infidel or free thinker. Recently a mob of men went to his house at night, and leading him to believe a sick person required his services, got him away from his house into the woods, where, with leveled six-shooters, they compelled him to strip and tied him. They then told him they knew he was an honest man and good physician, but they would tolerate no infidelity in Bell county, and by the help of God, they would put a stop to his career as a free thinker. They then gave him one hundred lashes on his bare back and turned him loose. They then stuck up a placard at the place, stating that if any more infidel lectures were given in that section they would burn out and hang all who dared to do so; that they had fifty men to back them and were determined to stop infidelity in Bell county. The reception of this news here causes great indignation among the free thinkers in this city, of which there are quite a number, and a public meeting is talked of by them to express their horror at the proceeding and memorialized the governor on this subject.

One Harvard student is paying his way through college by turning his room into a stationery and book store, and another, a graduate of Wesleyan University, is meeting his expenses at the law school by working in a barber shop.

Senator Davis and Alexander H. Stephens have both taken their seats. But what a difference in the size of the take!

A Neglectful Liver.

The bile has a three fold part assigned to it by the great manager, Nature. It assists in the digestive process, acts as a coloring agent of the blood, and is essential to the evacuation of the bowels. When the liver grows tired, complete chaos ensues in the stomach and bowels; the bile is injected into the circulation in large quantities, and constipation and indigestion are produced. Pains under the right shoulder blade and through the right side, headache, vertigo, yellowness of the skin, furred tongue and nausea, all follow. But to have a steady and efficient evacuation of the bowels, and to avoid all the disorders which attend biliousness, the liver must be kept in good health, and the bile must be kept in its proper channel. It is the perfecting of the liver, and the bile, that is the great remedy for all the disorders which attend biliousness. It is the perfecting of the liver, and the bile, that is the great remedy for all the disorders which attend biliousness.
